Node.js app (using webapp) throws 'Unable to find a suitable driver'. I'm writing a tiny web app in node.js, I'm using webapp engine. My app engine currently uses Express and bodyParser to consume HTTP requests. I'm trying to add Neo4j to the app for querying the database, but I cannot get it to work. When I try to run Neo4j from the same directory as the app.js file, I get the following error: Unable to find a suitable driver I've tried many different versions of neo4j, with different versions of nodejs, but it never works. This is the configuration that I'm using: var neo4j = require('neo4j'); neo4j.Neo4jClient = require('neo4j').Neo4jClient; neo4j.configure( neo4j.Neo4jClient.configure( neo4j.GraphDatabase.Cypher, neo4j.GraphDatabase.Node, neo4j.GraphDatabase.Relationship ), { username: 'elijah', password: 'password' }); 1cb139a0ed
