Q: How do I make eclipse find the right jre? This post is about the java runtime. I've installed Eclipse Juno and JDK 1.7, the installer found both java versions and set them to be used when I open the program. When I run the program, it doesn't seem to use the one set as default by the installer. It uses the jvm bundled with eclipse instead of the one eclipse downloaded from the jdks website. When I run from eclipse it works fine, but the results come to a browser as html How do I set the default java version for Eclipse so it works like this? A: If you don't have those entries in the JRE to point to the correct JRE, Eclipse will use the ones defined in the OS (the 2 JRE's are different). Members of the Los Angeles Police Department who used excessive force during the 2015 raid on warehouse known as the "Ghost Ship" — a historic art and performance space in the city's arts district — will see their use-of-force records expunged following a city Ethics Commission ruling. The city voted unanimously in September to expunge the records of all six officers involved in the raid, in which scores of partygoers ended up trapped in the building and at least two died. The commission ruled in April that LAPD Chief Charlie Beck's discipline of the officers was improper. LAPD Deputy Chief Michel Moore told The Times he was disappointed the commission did not order all six officers' records be expunged. But, in the end, the decision that the records be expunged was not his to make. "We appealed that decision," Moore said. "This was the penalty of the decision that was rendered." The commission did not tell the LAPD how to proceed with the record expungement.

[Discussion on treatment principles and clinical experience for knee osteoarthritis]. Knee osteoarthritis (KOA) is one of the most common joint diseases in China. Due to the aging of the population, the number of the affected patients is increasing year by year, which brings a heavy burden to society in terms of economy, medical resources, and the patient's quality of life. KOA is a main symptom of chronic primary and secondary arthritis and the most common cause of osteoarthritis. Its main symptoms are joint pain and deformity. Among those with KOA, 40%-50% of cases are left knees with the most common features being pain, tenderness, swelling, a limited range of motion, and joint deformation. KOA is a disease with no effective medicine and is currently treated with non-pharmacological therapy and pharmacological therapy. Non-pharmacological therapy mainly includes maintaining the normal function of the knee joint, relieving pain, improving the range of motion, and reducing the degree of disability. Pain reduction or pain relief depends on oral medication, physical therapy, and other traditional therapies. Pharmacological therapy mainly includes NSAIDs, steroids, COX2 inhibitors, hyaluronic acid, DMP-777, and LIOX. Due to the lack of the efficacy of oral medications and the low compliance rate of oral medications, hyaluronic acid and DMP-777 have been used in the clinic for a long time. In summary, non-pharmacological and pharmacological therapies are complementary in KOA, and the ultimate goal is to relieve and relieve the patient's pain and improve the quality of life for KOA patients.
