In this webinar, Dr Hans Knaevelsrud and Dr Simon Grove will explain how wearable technology can be used to support GP and hospital-based physicians in the management of chronic diseases. Case studies of the technology being used in primary care, including its application to the management of HF, diabetes and atrial fibrillation will be reviewed. Moreover, medical experts will share their views on the impact of wearable technology on the future healthcare system. Hans Knaevelsrud is a cardiologist and senior researcher in the Cardiology and Hypertension Department, University Hospital of Iceland, Íslands. Simon Grove is a Senior Lecturer in Pharmacy at University College London (UCL) and a practicing GP in St Helens, Merseyside.Introduction {#sec1_1}
